TECHS CELEBRATE RECENT VICTORY

Students Rejoice Over Great Game Against North Carolina.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Blacksburg, Va., November 9.—With a huge bonfire that cast a brilliant reflection against the darkened sky and lighted up the country for miles around, the cadets at the V. P. I. celebrated the victory of their team over the University of North Carolina in Richmond last Saturday. As soon as the news was received here by wire, about supper time, preparations were made for this frolic, and it was nearly midnight before the last piece of wood had crumbled to ashes. Collected songs gave their yells and the band played the popular airs and songs of the day. The North Carolina team had been beaten before by the Techs, but there had been no certainty that such would be the case this year, and great was the relief when the word came that the Orange and Maroon had been victorious once more.

In Richmond again, as in Knoxville, the Tech team attracted unusual comment from those familiar with football, the sporting writers and players from other colleges who saw the game. Although Leake, Hughes, V. B. Hodgeson and Derby were given special mention, the Tech players of barely sixteen years, particularly, it was generally conceded that neither the coach nor the men on the squad depended on any one man for help. Each one was expected to do his best. The team was lighter than their opponents, it lacked the famous stars of former years, but it had the kind of coaching that makes for victories, and in every game the results of this coaching, as compared with that of the other side, has been so apparent that every reporter of a game in the cities where it has played has featured it in his write-up.

The team returned to Blacksburg Sunday at noon somewhat sore and tired from their work of the previous day, but this has worn off, and the usual daily practice for the game November 12 in Lynchburg is being held. On this date the team from George Washington University will be played, and while the latter is a new and somewhat uncertain factor in the football field, the Techs will go to Lynchburg prepared to do their best, and a good game may be expected. After that will come the hard work looking to the Thanksgiving game with North Carolina A. & M. in Norfolk, a game that always attracts great crowds, and which the student body will attend. A special train will be run from Blacksburg to Norfolk on Saturday morning in the morning of November 24.

TEAM PRACTICING TO MEET CAROLINA

Washington and Lee Will Be Ready for Battle on Saturday.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Lexington, Va., November 9.—The men on the Washington and Lee squad prepared for practice early this morning and went to work with a great deal of enthusiasm and spirit. The squad from which the Techs will be chosen for Saturday's game with Carolina numbers thirty men. The men that have been out for several days will be back for Saturday. Burk probably will be the last to return to his position at end.

On Monday Coach Pollard divided the squad into two eleven, one the varsity and the other the scrubs. The varsity line-up is the same as usual, with the exception of the back field because of the injury of several men there has been a temporary line-up. Beaver has been shifted to left half back and has been showing up splendidly. Humphreys, who played such a splendid game against V. P. I. when he was placed in the back field, has been used in the position of end, and although light, has been playing the position with the skill and ability of a tackle. Hodges has been used in the line in the capacity of guard, and has been filling the position with a great deal of glory. The Techs have been put in the position of full back, and is showing up fast.

Arrested on Theft Charge. Alexander Booker, colored, was last night arrested and locked up in the Second Police Station on a charge of stealing a lot of groceries from S. Ulman & Co. He will be tried in the Police Court this morning.

OLD SORES DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that local applications have no permanent effect toward healing the ulcer, shows that deep down in the system there is a morbid cause for the sore. But more convincing proof that bad blood is the cause for these places is furnished by the fact that even removing the sore or ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; they always return. Nature will heal any sore if the blood is pure and healthy, but until the circulation is cleansed of all impure matter and supplied with nourishing and plasmic qualities the infected condition of flesh is OBLIGED to remain. S. S. S. heals Old Sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes into the blood, removes the impurities and morbid matters, adds nourishing qualities to this vital fluid, and brings about the very conditions that are necessary for any sore can heal. S. S. S. is a perfect blood purifier, acting directly on the circulation through the stomach and digestive members. Its use makes rich, red, healthy blood, which nourishes all flesh tissues instead of infecting them with the virulent matter which keeps old sores open. BEST SPORT OF MEET ON JAMESTOWN TRACK

Spectacular Finishes in Number of Events—Onager Returns to His Old Form—Flying Machine to Race Against Horse.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Norfolk, Va., November 9.—Richard T. Wilson's two-year-old Onager showed this afternoon at Jamestown that he has returned to the form he displayed at Belmont Park early last spring by defeating the two best youngsters at the track and clipping a fifth of a second from the track record. Onager ran the five and a half furlongs in 1:06 2-5, and won comfortably as the end of the race.

The favorite for the race, Singler, could not follow the stiff pace set and finished a poor third. The sport was about the best of the meeting from a spectacular point, finishes being close in a number of events. The most exciting race of the afternoon occurred in the third, when El Oro, after having been apparently beaten, came with a rattle and took first money from Campagner.

In connection with the race to-morrow, Manager Levy has engaged Bud Mars, the aviator, to give an exhibition in his flying machine. Mars will be matched in his flying machine against a race horse. My Southern Boy, once around the track. He also make an effort to break the high altitude record.

The attendance to-day was big. First race—two and three-year-olds maidens, six furlongs—Annie Sellers, 97 (Lang), 5 to 1, even, out, first; Patrick S. 97 (McCahey), 5 to 1, 2 to 1, 1 to 1, second; Wrap, 97 (Ural), 7 to 1, out, third. Time, 1:14 2-5. Super-visor, O. U. Buster, Alice Virginia and Cardiff also ran.

Second race—two-year-olds and up, five and six furlongs—Omar, 119 (Goldstein), 4 to 1, 7 to 10, out, first; Martin W. Littleton, 113 (McCahey), 5 to 1, even, out, second; Stinger, 118 (Dugan), 1 to 2, 1 to 6, out, third. Time, 1:06 2-5. Carter also ran.

Third race—three-year-olds and up, selling, one mile and a half—(Schumaker), 4 to 1, 6 to 5, out, first; Campagner, 109 (McCahey), even, 1 to 3, out, second; The Golden Buttery, 103 (Diamond), 10 to 1, 4 to 1, 1 to 1, 5 to 3, third. Time, 1:11 2-5. Joe Galtons and My Gal also ran.

Fourth race—three-year-olds and up, selling, six furlongs—Omar, 119 (McCahey), 10 to 1, 2 to 1, 2 to 5, first; Takahira, 115 (Goldstein), 8 to 5, 1 to 1, out, second; Cooney K., 115 (Dugan), 4 to 5, out, third. Time, 1:14 2-5. Tontola also ran.

Fifth race—two-year-olds that had won two races since October 1, selling, five furlongs—Firewood, 109 (Gordon), 10 to 1, 2 to 1, 2 to 5, first; El Oro, 113 (McCahey), 5 to 1, 2 to 1, 1 to 1, second; Wrap, 97 (Ural), 7 to 1, out, third. Time, 1:14 2-5. Super-visor, O. U. Buster, Alice Virginia and Cardiff also ran.

One of the most interested spectators at the game was Chris Barker. He doesn't care to know much about football, but he does know as much about a dissecting table as any man without M. D. tied to his name in the city of Richmond.

Dr. Lawrence Price, whose military title is major and who possesses a civilian handle, was the author of several long and loud wails. He is from the new school, and things didn't go just the way he wanted.

Probably two of the most delighted men at the game were Drs. Robins and Brown. Dr. Robins holds down one of the chairs in the Medical College of Virginia, and Dr. Brodnax conducts the clinics at the University College. Dr. Robins was tickled because he thought his team couldn't lose, and Dr. Brodnax was happy because he thought his team was going to win.

Harris, who played right half on the Medical College team, is one of the nerviest youngsters ever in a game in this man's town. With a cut on his cheek after the first scrimmage, he stuck it out and played a great game.

Ross also was in the fighting all of the game. He was a tackle, and with proper coaching can be made just as sure a ground gainer. He hits the line right, and he follows to the hilt, and is fast. Just a little while longer and he will prove a star.

Some were remarked that it was a pleasure to get hurt during the game, "seeing as how the very best in the medical line was at the park." Come to think of it, they are given some practice, too. Lots of blood spilled during the fray. Meredith got a whack when he was out early in the game. Then there were others who yielded to the bandage and amica treatment. Harris was worse hurt than any one else, and he was properly taken care of.

Report says that Oger played centre throughout the game with a broken rib. Don't know whether to call that nerve or foolhardiness. Any way, it shows a surplus of college spirit. And he really played a great game.

Willis of the University College played a star game under adverse conditions. Some how or other his team was a little off color, and yet he was able to make appreciable gains from time to time. The trouble was that the game came when it was of little use.

The dispute after Futrell's run for a touchdown was caused by the headlinesman who reported a U. C. M. man offside. The run was made after an attempted dropkick for goal. It is the duty of the headlinesman to report such plays, and there was little need to kick. The rules are explicit in this regard. A little tough luck. However, had the new school won under this condition it would have been a rather hollow victory.

It does look a little unsportsmanlike for the spectators to make as much noise as they can so as to drown the signals of the opposing team. I know that it is common practice, but as the game has improved the method of expressing enthusiasm should improve with it. Win if you can, but do not win any way.

The University of North Carolina and Washington and Lee will play in Norfolk on Saturday. This should prove a real contest. If comparative scores may be relied upon these two teams are evenly matched. The V. P. I. played both eleven and defeated each 20 to 0. However, reports from Carolina are that the Techs won the game by a score of 20 to 0. The Techs and will win. Remains to be seen.

See that the match race between Stinger and David Dunlop's Touch Me has been called off. The stewards say that the rules forbid match races. Maybe they do, but even if they don't it would be foolish to match the

GREAT BIG GOOSE EGG RESULT OF HARD GAME

Two Medical Colleges Fight It Out at Broad Street Park in Annual Football Contest and Neither Team Able to Score—Old College Fools Youngsters and Is the Aggressor.

Before a crowd containing staunch supporters of both teams, the Medical College of Virginia did battle with the University College of Medicine yesterday afternoon at Broad Street Park, the game resulting in a tie, neither team being able to score.

It was the one big surprise of the local football season. The new schools' prowess on the gridiron had been vaunted at every opportunity. Odds were laid that the college would win and the backers of the Red and White were willing to concede that the game would be a close one. There is no in camp to-day—no in every particular, mentally and physically, to tell, frankly, if vague mutterings heard on the street can be believed.

Old School Rejoicing. Down Marshall Street, where the Greek-like structure of the old school is built, there is much rejoicing. Of course, there would be more rejoicing had the team won, but under the circumstances a tie is generally regarded as a victory. And in all fairness it must be admitted that the Medical College of Virginia played the better game. The ball was in their opponents' territory most of the time, and they did most of the ground-gaining.

Ground-gaining in the usual manner of football games was conspicuous by its absence. Neither team was very successful in launching plays which gained. The result was that kicking was resorted to, and even in this department the old school outshone its newer rivals.

Touchdown Scored, but Didn't Count. If you ask a student at the University College of Medicine, he will doubtless tell you that his team won the game. He happened in the third quarter. Captain Hardy, of the Meds, dropped back for a try for goal from the field. The attempt was blocked and Futrell, of the University College, gathered in the oval and ran eighty-five yards for a touchdown. The head linesman reported a man was blocked and the play was brought back, and to add to the woe of the disgruntled University crowd, their own team was called in for a try for goal. The ball was taken up in argument over the decision, and the rule book was resorted to several times, but the decision remained.

Teams Evenly Matched. It was a pretty game, and the teams were evenly matched. Of which fact a tie score is not always indicative. The truth of the whole matter is that the University College did not expect to have near such a battle. How the report started is not known, but the opinion generally accepted was that the Medical College didn't have a chance. That's where everybody was fooled, for the Medical College was at all times a very strong team. It took the prettiest kind of defensive play to keep the team from scoring. With an accurate dropkicker on the team the Meds could have scored without a score, for time and again attempts at goal were made from easy chances.

Georgetown game. To-morrow afternoon the regulars will line up to experiment with punt formations, and then devote the remainder of the afternoon to signal practice. No more risks will be taken, said one of the coaches. The men will be lucky if they can recover from the injuries they have already received.

Another effort was made to-day to arouse interest in the Georgetown game. The college band and perhaps 200 rooters appeared on the field. The cheerleaders sang and yelled and rehearsed under the leadership of Larry Martin, the track team star, and the work of the players was applauded. Another rally will be held to-morrow.

Hampton-Sidney to Play Randolph-Macon in Richmond on Saturday.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Hampton-Sidney, Va., November 9.—After outplaying Richmond College at over playing the game of Saturday, winning by a score of 18 to 0, Coach Yancey, of Hampton-Sidney, has been invited to play Randolph-Macon, at Broad Street Park, Richmond, Saturday.

Strong William and Mary team, camp by a score of 11 to 2, which promises to make Saturday's game one of the hardest as well as the most interesting in the history of the association.

Hampton-Sidney having won from both the Spiders and Tigers, has now but to defeat Randolph-Macon in order to win the cup. If Randolph-Macon wins, that club must defeat Richmond College.

No one on the Hampton-Sidney team was severely injured in Saturday's game. Although the back field men did a great deal of the work for the team, the game realizes the fact that eleven men were in the game, and it is evident that the Spiders realize the same fact.

Hampton-Sidney's line made openings at will for the backs, who plunged for long gains. In the forward pass, Richmond was clearly outclassed, one of Hampton-Sidney's touchdowns having been made by a beautifully executed pass from Lewis to Barton.

Captain Yancey outplayed his opponent on an average of fifteen yards to the yard.

It is probable that the same line-up that started the game last Saturday will be in position for Hampton-Sidney when the opening whistle blows Saturday, with a goodly number of substitutes on the side line.

Almost the entire student body will accompany the team to Richmond.
